Economic Development Representatives from Across the State Meet in Terre Haute

Terre Haute, Indiana, (June 10, 2009)—The Indiana Economic Development Association, Inc., will be holding its summer quarterly meeting in Terre Haute on June 11th and June 12th. It is estimated that nearly 150 economic development professionals from the state of Indiana will be merging on the Terre Haute community for the two day meeting. These quarterly meetings evaluate and examine trends, procedures, practices and policies employed by various organizations and agencies featuring knowledgeable guest speakers.

Part of the programming will be held at Indiana State University's Hulman Center-Lower Conference Room. Programming would include presentations from Boral Bricks, CertainTeed, and the Rural Health Innovation Collaborative (RHIC).

The Indiana Economic Development Association (IEDA) was formed in 1968 by 16 professional industrial developers to provide continuity to a statewide economic development effort. IEDA was incorporated in 1982 and has 405 members representing local economic development organizations, agencies, corporations, congressional staff, the Indiana Economic Development Corporation, and utilities.

You are invited for photo opportunities and pre-event interviews with Mike Heaton, President of the Indiana Economic Development Association and Steve Witt, President of the Terre Haute Economic Development Corporation from 2:30 pm to 3:00 pm, Thursday, June 11th. The question and answer opportunity will be held at the Hulman Center-Lower Conference Room.

For your convenience, attached is a complete itinerary for the two day event.
